"India 2047 deals with macroeconomic essentials and emphasises the need for structural transformation, organising the labour markets, increasing competitiveness, enhancing financial and social inclusion with equitable growth, the role of federalism in inclusive growth, imperatives for job-generation, and the importance of infrastructure development and financing."
- Sameer Kochhar, Chairman, SKOCH Group

"Over the next 25 years, India needs to strengthen its parliament and make systems more resilient. This coupled with robust regulatory environment will take us through the next wave of reforms and corollary to this would be cooperative federalism. Sameer's book is an apt commentary that suitably covers all aspects of cooperative federalism and presents a lucid prescription of what needs to be done learning from our past lessons."
- Vijay L Kelkar, Chairman, 13th Finance Commission

"This volume contains an in depth analysis of significant policy issues in addressing contemporary challenges, high growth coupled with fiscal consolidation and reconciling the dichotomy between inclusiveness and inflation management with macroeconomic stability. It brings together domain experts over experience, skill and understanding."
- N K Singh, Chairman, 15th Finance Commission

DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION AWARD BY SKOCH: NOMINATIONS OPEN

Seeking Enlightened Organisations of more than 1,000 crore in size that have Digitally Transformed and will Contribute to Making India a Developed Country. Nominate Now

Every large business is digitally transforming – it is a compulsion to stay in business. Quite a few of them go on to win awards for doing only this much.
SKOCH Award, though taking your professional excellence as a starting point, is about going beyond the call of business to serve the country – we call this enlightened self-interest.

If India must become a developed country by 2047, most of the heavy lifting will have to be done by big businesses. Their Digital Transformation must therefore reach population scale to touch every Indian for making every Indian their customer and grow their business and economy. This then will create a consumption and job generation juggernaut across the country.

Some businesses share this vision, but only a few are doing something about it as a strategic plan. It is these few that are worthy of a SKOCH Award.

As a part of the award process, the businesses and their best practices get documented. Their Total Economic Impact (TEI) on India is understood. Their story is widely shared for others to take note of and learn from and their business expanded.

If you have such an enlightened mindset and a story to share, APPLY for SKOCH DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION AWARD.
